Pay Day at the Shops.

Yesterday was pay day at the Roanoke Machine Works. Nearly $60,000 was distributed among the various employees, which means greater comfort in the homes of Roanoke's laboring men and more money for our merchants. This is the largest payroll for any one month, with possibly one exception, within the history of the shops.

Oyster Supper.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Grace M. E. Church served an oyster supper last night in the Eggleby building, near the East Roanoke Baptist Church. Quite a good crowd was in attendance and the accommodating and beautiful young ladies at the tables made it pleasant for all who patronized them. The tables were tastefully decorated and very inviting. The supper will continue to-night.

He is suffering from senile gangrene, occasioned by a small sore on one of his feet. Dr. Scott is quite well known in this city, having preached here several times. His sons, Dr. Scott, of Galveston, Texas, and Rev. J. A. Scott, Jr., of Georgia, are at his bedside.

Tinsley, J. H. Featherstone, J. H. Earman. The body was viewed and then Dr. Downey, city examiner, made an autopsy which showed the cause of death to be pneumonia, and a verdict was rendered accordingly. The little fellow had lodged a piece of citron rind in his wind pipe, which was successfully taken out by cutting into the trachea. He was well on the road to recovery.

A Suspicious Circumstance.

Yesterday evening as west-bound train No. 3 arrived at the Union depot one of the popular employees of the office department of the Roanoke Machine Works was seen aboard in company with a popular young lady of Lynchburg and they were traveling in the direction of Bristol. One thing that makes the affair look suspicious is that this same young man is booked as a delegate to attend the Baptist General Association in Petersburg and many of his friends supposed him to be in that city.

Greene-Memorial Revival.

The revival services at Greene-Memorial last night were of a most interesting nature. There was no regular sermon. The meeting Sunday night will determine as to whether or not the services will be continued.

Similar amendments were granted to the charter of the North Kenova Company, the capital stock of which is $10,000, with power to increase the same to $40,000. He Committed Suicide.

Superintendent J. C. Rawn, of the Roanoke Gas and Water Company, received a short and hurriedly written letter from Farmville yesterday evening saying that Joan D. Cochins, formerly of this city, had suicided by shooting himself through the head. Cochins came to Roanoke about eighteen months ago and was employed by the Roanoke Gas and Water Company. After remaining here about six months he resigned his position to accept that of superintendent of the water company of Farmville, which position he held about one year, having resigned by telegram on the 13th inst. He was a native Hollander and was employed by Capt. Osborne, of the Norfolk and Western at Norfolk two years prior to his coming to Roanoke. No reasons were assigned in the letter for his having committed the rash act.

The Coming Poultry Show.

The Roanoke Valley Poultry Association will give their fourth annual show in this city on December 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7. The exhibition will be held in the Evans hardware building on Commerce street. City Treasurer C. W. Thomas is president of the association and will spare no pains in making the exhibit a grand success in every particular. Many premiums will be awarded. All entries must be made before Saturday, November 30, and the entry fee of five cents must accompany each fowl. The show was held in the Day building on Campbell street last year, but owing to the severity of the weather was not so well attended as the exhibit merited. Adults will be charged an admission fee of fifteen cents and children ten cents. Season tickets will be sold at fifty cents and exhibitors will be required to purchase season tickets. J. H. Drevonstedt, editor of the American Fancier, has been engaged to judge the show by the score card. The express company will return all exhibits free which do not change hands.

KATE CLAXTON.

A Small Audience Greeted This Noted Actress at the Academy.

The powerful drama, "The Two Orphans," which created such a furore several years ago throughout this country and Europe, was given last night at the Academy of Music, with Kate Claxton, the original Louise of the play, again representing that character, and a most excellent company supporting her. The play was excellently staged and the powerfully thrilling situations which made it famous in the past once more drew the tears and awoke the enthusiasm of a sympathetic audience.

Kate Claxton has lost none of the effectiveness which made her portrayal of the blind Louise one of the finest creations ever seen on the stage.

The other principals of the company fairly shared the honors with Miss Claxton. Marie Bingham, as La Frochard; W. F. Clifton, as Jacques; Prince Lloyd, as Pierre, the cripple; and Neil Warner, as Comte de Liniere, each giving fine impersonations. This attraction was brought here at a large expense, but the small attendance resulted in a loss to the management. To-night Marie Wainwright, an equally expensive attraction, will appear, and in case it is not properly supported by the public it is the intention of the management to close the Academy for the best part of the season.

A Fine Testimonial.

Attention is called to the large advertisement on page six of this issue of the well-known and deservedly popular Paine's Celery Compound. M. Quad, the famous humorist, tells of the wonderful benefit he derived from the use of the compound. He says it made him well. It will do the same for you. If you feel run down or out of sorts, get a bottle of that great medicine and be cured.

After Acute Bronchitis CURED BY USING

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral

A PREACHER'S EXPERIENCE.

"Three months ago, I took a violent cold which resulted in an attack of acute bronchitis. I put myself under medical treatment, and at the end of two months was no better. I found it very difficult to preach, and concluded to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. The first bottle gave me great relief; the second, which I am now taking, has relieved me almost entirely of all unpleasant symptoms, and I feel sure that one or two bottles more will effect a permanent cure. To all ministers suffering from throat troubles, I recommend Ayer's Cherry Pectoral."—E. M. BRAWLEY, D. D., Dist. Secretary, Am. Bapt. Publication Society, Petersburg, Va.
